FOREWORD

The Digest of Criminal Laws is intended to provide police officers with a small, convenient version of Maryland law to have available while they are on duty. This book does not contain every Maryland law, although efforts were made to include as many relevant laws as possible. In some instances, the text of laws are reprinted. In other instances, the laws are summarized or simply mentioned. Officers must read the text of any law they intend to cite, and obtain competent legal advice if they have questions.

Court decisions also impact police practice. However, due to space limitations, it is impractical to include case summaries in the Digest. Please review Training Notes, a bimonthly publication of the Police and Correctional Training Commissions, to find summaries of relevant State and federal cases. Training Notes is available online at <http://www.mdle.net/tnotes.htm>.

Guide to Citations

References to article and section numbers are to the Annotated Code of Maryland unless otherwise indicated.

“USCA” refers to federal laws in the United States Code Annotated.

“Op. A.G.” refers to Opinions of the Attorney General of Maryland. Cases from Maryland appeals courts are cited as __Md. __ (year), which is the Court of Appeals (highest court), or __Md. App. __ (year), which is the Court of Special Appeals (second highest court). Cases from both these courts may also be cited in the Atlantic Reporter, such as __A.2d __ (year). Cases are referred by volume, court, page number, and then year. Newly decided cases may be accessible only through a database, and will be cited by year and reference number (e.g. 2010 WL 12345 – “WL” stands for Westlaw) until they are assigned an “official” citation.

II. GENERAL POLICE POWERS

ARREST – AUTHORITY

Definition: Distinction Between Felony Arrests and Misdemeanor Arrests

The law of arrest in Maryland is in common law and statutory form.

The basic distinction in Maryland's law of arrest is that between a felony and a misdemeanor.

Generally, of course, felonies are the "more serious" and misdemeanors are the "less serious" offenses. The courts have tried to evolve a law of arrest, which on the one side would protect society from crime and criminals and on the other side would protect the individual from arbitrary arrest. The solution has been to permit the officer to arrest without a warrant for a felony, but to restrict the right of arrest for a misdemeanor.

It is generally recognized that an arrest is the taking, seizing, or detaining of the person of another (1) by touching or putting hands on him; (2) or by any act that indicates an intention to take him into custody and that subjects him to the actual control and will of the person making the arrest; or (3) by the consent of the person to be arrested. Bouldin v. State, 276 Md. 511, 515-516 (1976).

Four elements must coalesce to constitute a legal arrest: (1) an intent to arrest; (2) under a real or pretended authority; (3) accompanied by a seizure or detention of the person; and (4) which is understood by the person arrested.

Authority of Police Officers

(b)(1) Subject to the limitations of paragraph (3) of this subsection, a police officer may make arrests, conduct investigations, and otherwise enforce the laws of the state throughout the state without limitations as to jurisdiction.

(2) This section does not authorize a police officer who acts under the authority granted by this section to enforce the Maryland vehicle law beyond the police officer's sworn jurisdiction, unless the officer is acting under a mutual aid agreement authorized under subsection 2-105 of this subtitle.

(3) A police officer may exercise the powers granted by this section when:

(i)(1) The police officer is participating in a joint investigation with officials from another state, federal, or local law enforcement unit, at least one of which has local jurisdiction;

(2) The police officer is rendering assistance to another police officer;

(3) The police officer is acting at the request of a police officer or state police officer; or

(4) an emergency exists; and

(ii) The police officer is acting in accordance with regulations adopted by the police officer's employing unit to carry out this section.

(4) The powers granted by this section are in addition to the powers granted by subsections 5-801, 5-802, 5-807, 5-808, and 5-901 of the Criminal Law Article and to the powers of fresh pursuit granted by Subtitle 3 of this Title.

(c) A police officer who acts under authority of this section shall notify the following persons of an investigation or enforcement action:

Police Chief, Police Commissioner, Sheriff, Secretary of Natural Resources, State Police Barrack Commander or their designee.

(See statute for actual wording)

Criminal Procedure Article § 2-102

A federal law enforcement officer may make an arrest with or without a warrant for violations of the United States Code and carry firearms in the performance of the officer's duties. A federal law enforcement officer may make arrests and execute arrest and search and seizure warrants issued under the laws of the state when the federal law enforcement officer is participating in a joint investigation with state or local officials, rendering assistance to a police officer, acting at the request of a local police officer or state police officer, or an emergency exists. Within areas of the National Park System, a United States Park Police Officer may exercise the authority of a police officer to issue a citation under this section.

(See statute for actual wording)

Criminal Procedure Article § 2-104

Exemptions from Arrest

Friendly foreign Sovereigns and their attendants, their Ambassadors and other diplomatic agents, public ministers and their attendants, household, and retinue are exempt from arrest, entry of their houses, or subjection to the process of law of the country visited.

A member of the organized militia may not be arrested on any process not issued by a military authority while going to, remaining at, or returning from a place that the member is required to attend for military duty.

Public Safety Article § 13-905

United States Senators and Representatives shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Article I, Section 6, United States Constitution.

Editor's Note: The Supreme Court has ruled on several occasions that the "constitutional freedom from arrest does not exempt Members of Congress from the operation of the ordinary criminal laws, even though imprisonment may prevent or interfere with the performance of their duties as Member".

Gravel v. United States, 92 S.Ct. 2614, 408 US 606, 33 L. Ed. 2d 583 (1972).

Criminal Procedure Article § 2-206

WARRANTS FOR ARREST AND CHARGING DOCUMENTS

Warrant of Arrest

The Maryland Constitution prohibits general or vague warrants, and warrants that are not supported by a sworn statement.

Md. Const., Decl. of Rts., Art 26.

Definition – a written order by a judicial officer commanding a peace officer to arrest the person named.

Md. Rule 4-101

Issuance – Generally, a warrant will be issued (instead of a summons) to secure an individuals' appearance in court if there is probable cause to believe the individual committed the offense, and is dangerous, or there is a substantial likelihood the individual will not respond to summons.

Md. Rule 4-212(d)

Service and Execution – A sheriff or other peace officer shall serve the warrant by arresting the individual. A copy of the warrant and charging document must be served along with the actual arrest. The peace officer must take the defendant before a judicial officer (without unnecessary delay) (District Court – 24 hours; Circuit Court – not later than next court session after arrest), and then promptly make return of service to the court that issued the warrant.

Md. Rule 4-212(e), (g)

Secrecy – Court records pertaining to the charging documents and issuance of warrants are not open to public inspection until either the warrant is served and returned, or 90 days have passed since the warrant was issued.

Md. Rule 4-212(d)

Destruction – The District Court is authorized to establish a system for destroying (among other papers) arrest warrants that are more than 3 years old, delivered to law enforcement for service, but were not served.

Courts and Judicial Proceedings Article § 1-605.

Execution of Arrest Warrant – Defendant Not in Custody

(e) Unless the defendant is in custody, a warrant shall be executed by the arrest of the defendant.

Unless the warrant and charging document are served at the time of the arrest, the officer shall inform the defendant of the nature of the offense charged and of the fact that a warrant has been issued. A copy of the warrant and charging document shall be served on the defendant promptly after the arrest. The defendant shall be taken before a judicial officer of the District Court without unnecessary delay and in no event later than 24 hours after arrest or, if the warrant so specifies, before a judicial officer of the Circuit Court without unnecessary delay and in no event later than the next session of court after the date of arrest. The court shall process the defendant pursuant to Rule 4-216 and may make provision for the appearance or waiver of counsel pursuant to Rule 4-215.

Md. Rule 4-212

The law generally treats the use of force as “privileged” if necessary to carry out the officer’s underlying duty to execute a court order. One executing an order of a court is privileged, if such process or order is valid or fair on its face, to use such force against the person of another as is authorized by the order or is reasonably necessary for the execution of the order.

84 Opinions of the Attorney General (1999), note 8 (other citations omitted). But the fact that an officer has authority to use force in a particular circumstance does not necessarily imply that the officer has a duty to use force. C.f., Ashburn v. Anne Arundel County, 306 Md. 617 (1986).

Bench Warrant

A bench warrant is a process issued by a judge from the bench, that is, by the court itself, for the arrest of a person, either in a case of contempt of court, or after an indictment has been found, or to bring in a witness who has not obeyed the subpoena. It requires all the formalities of other warrants of arrest. It is always issued by a judge at an official sitting.

Retake Warrant

The warden or designee may issue a retake warrant for the apprehension and return of an escapee.

Any sheriff or police officer authorized to serve criminal process, to whom a warrant for the retaking of an escapee shall be delivered, is authorized and required to execute such warrant in accordance with the directions contained therein. A sheriff or police officer making an arrest under this section shall promptly notify the Division of Correction of the arrest.

(See statute for complete wording)
Correctional Services Article § 3-214

Hospital Warrant

(e) "Hospital warrant" means the legal document issued by a court that:

(1) Authorizes any law enforcement officer in the state to apprehend an individual who is alleged to have violated an order for conditional release and transport the individual to a facility designated by the department; and

(2) Requires that the issuance of the warrant is entered in the person's criminal history record information of the Criminal Justice Information System.

Criminal Procedure Article § 3-101

(For more detailed information see Criminal Procedure Article.)

Filing of Charging Document

(a) The original citation shall be filed in District Court promptly after its issuance and service.

(b) Statement of Charges.

(1) Before Any Arrest. Except as otherwise provided by statute, a judicial officer may file a statement of charges in the District Court against a defendant who has not been arrested for that offense upon written application containing an affidavit showing probable cause that the defendant committed the offense charged. If not executed by a peace officer, the affidavit shall be made and signed before a judicial officer.

(2) After Arrest. When a defendant is arrested without a warrant, the officer who has custody of the defendant shall forthwith cause a statement of charges to be filed against the defendant in the District Court. At the same time or as soon thereafter as is practicable, the officer shall file an affidavit containing facts showing probable cause that the defendant committed the offense charged.

Md. Rule 4-211

EXECUTING AN ARREST

Force in Making Arrest

Any force used must be reasonable under the circumstances. Exactly what is “reasonable” is not capable of precise definition, but depends on the facts and circumstances of each particular case, as judged by the perspective of a reasonable officer on the scene.

See Graham v. Connor, 490 U.S. 386, 109 S.Ct. 1865 (1989).

Generally, officers should use the least amount of force that is necessary to control an incident, effect an arrest, or to protect themselves or others from harm or death as may be necessary to take the prisoner into custody. If, however, he is resisted he may repel force with force.

In making an arrest, officer should always consider the enormity of the crime and the character of resistance, and use only such a force as may be necessary to overcome the resistance and make the arrest.

Resisting or Interfering with Arrest

A person may not intentionally resist a lawful arrest or interfere with an individual who the person has reason to know is a police officer who is making or attempting to make a lawful arrest or detention of another person. Violation of this section is a misdemeanor and is subject to imprisonment not exceeding 3 years or a fine not exceeding $5,000.

(See statute for complete language.)

Criminal Law Article § 9-408

Removing a Firearm from a Law Enforcement Officer

(a) In this section, “law enforcement officer” means:

(1) a law enforcement officer who, in an official capacity, is authorized by law to make arrests;

(2) a sheriff, deputy sheriff, or assistant sheriff; or

(3) an employee of the division of correction, the Patuxent institution, the division of pretrial detention and services, the division of parole and probation, a local correctional facility, or any booking facility.

(b) A person may not knowingly remove or attempt to remove a firearm from the possession of a law enforcement officer if:

(1) the law enforcement officer is lawfully acting within the course and scope of employment; and

(2) the person has knowledge or reason to know that the law enforcement officer is employed as a law enforcement officer.

(c) A person who violates this section is guilty of a felony and on conviction is subject to imprisonment not exceeding 10 years or a fine not exceeding $10,000 or both.

Criminal Law Article § 4-103

Duty to Semiconscious or Unconscious Suspects

(1) Before a law enforcement officer may charge with a crime a person who is found by the law enforcement officer in a semiconscious or unconscious condition, the law enforcement officer shall make a diligent effort to determine whether the person suffers from epilepsy, diabetes, a cardiac condition, or another type of illness that causes semi consciousness or unconsciousness; and is carrying the identification bracelet, tag, or card described in subsection (b) of this section.

(2) If the law enforcement officer determines that the person suffers from an illness that causes semi consciousness or unconsciousness, and the person is carrying the bracelet, tag, or card described in subsection (b) of this section, the law enforcement officer shall:

(i) notify the person's physician immediately; or

(ii) have the person immediately transported to:

1. a physician; or

2. a facility where the services of a physician are available.

(b) A person who suffers from epilepsy, diabetes, a cardiac condition, or other type of illness that causes temporary blackouts, semiconscious periods, or complete unconsciousness may wear an identification bracelet or metal tag or carry an identification card that is engraved, stamped, or imprinted with the person's name, type of illness, physician's name, and required medication.

(c)(1) A person may not willfully and knowingly falsify identification described in subsection (b) of this section.

(2) A person may not deliberately misrepresent an illness that causes blackouts, semi consciousness, or unconsciousness as described in subsection (b) of this section.

(3) A person who violates this subsection is guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction is subject to a fine not exceeding $500.

Criminal Procedure Article § 2-107

Detention/Arrest of Foreign Nationals – Consular Notification

Depending on the foreign national's country of origin, his or her arrest may trigger a requirement to notify that country's consular officials within a specified period of time. After determining the foreign national's identity and country of origin (which should be located on the individual's passport or travel authorization documents), officers need to ascertain whether the individual is from a "mandatory notification" country, and if so, how to contact the nearest consular official for that country.

Arresting officers are strongly encouraged to immediately contact their supervisor, and proceed according to direction from the U.S. Department of State. Due to current dynamics such as the relationship of the U.S. with other countries, applicable treaties, and foreign policy, police agencies are strongly encouraged to obtain consular notification instructions directly from the U.S. Department of State. Contact information for the Department of State is listed under the heading, "Useful Phone and Contact Information" at the front of the Digest.

ARREST POWERS AND OTHER AUTHORITY – MISCELLANEOUS OFFICERS

Powers of Correctional Officers, Parole and Probation Officers

Correctional employees monitoring inmates on home detention and parole and probation officers supervising offenders on home detention have the same powers to arrest these individuals as are set forth in this title for police officers. Correctional officers in local correctional facilities designated by the managing official under Section 11-802 of the Correctional Services Article have the same powers to arrest persons on the property of the facility as are set forth in this title for police officers.

(See statute for actual wording)

Criminal Procedure Article § 2-207

Authority of Parole and Probation Agents

(a) There is a Warrant Apprehension Unit in the Division of Parole and Probation.

(b) The Director may authorize parole and probation employees of the Warrant Apprehension Unit to:

(1) execute warrants for the retaking of offenders;

(2) execute warrants for the arrest of probationers for whom a warrant is issued for an alleged violation of probation;

(3) obtain and execute search warrants as authorized under § 6-109 of this subtitle; and

(4) arrest offenders in the program as authorized under § 2-207 of the Criminal Procedure Article.

(c) A parole and probation employee who is authorized to make arrests under this section shall:

(1) meet the minimum qualifications required by the Maryland Police Training Commission; and

(2) complete satisfactorily the training prescribed by the Maryland Police Training Commission.

Police Order for Assistance from a Motor Vehicle Operator

If an officer orders a driver to assist him in enforcing the law or making an arrest, the officer's employer (government unit) is liable for the damages caused by the officer's negligence.

Transportation Article § 19-101

Officers may not direct any driver, owner, or passenger of a vehicle to participate in a roadblock. If this happens, the officer's employer (government unit) is liable for resulting damages, regardless of whether the officer was negligent.

Transportation Article § 19-102

Note: The common law made it a crime for citizens to refuse to assist a police officer. Over the years, that rule changed to disallow commandeering citizens' cars for roadblocks, and to provide for compensation for officers' negligence. Maryland case law does not rule out the possibility of police authority to summons citizens to assist in enforcing the law, but does not provide what the limits of that authority may be.

Keesling v. State, 288 Md. 579, 585-589, and note 2 (1980).

ENTRY OF PREMISES

Warrantless Entry

The 4th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution requires that police entering a dwelling must knock on the door and announce their identity and purpose before attempting forcible entry. The knock-and-announce requirement may give way if circumstances present a threat of physical violence, or if police have reason to believe evidence would be destroyed if advance notice is given. Wilson v. Arkansas, 514 U.S. 927, 115 S.Ct. 1914 (1995).

To justify a no-knock entry, police must have a reasonable suspicion that knocking and announcing their presence, under the particular circumstances, would be dangerous or futile, or it would inhibit the effective investigation of the crime by, for example, allowing destruction of evidence. Richards v. Wisconsin, 520 U.S. 385, 117 S.Ct. 1416 (1997).

There is no automatic exception to the knock-and-announce requirement for felony drug investigations. Richards v. Wisconsin, 520 U.S. 385, 117 S.Ct. 1416 (1997).

Exigent circumstances may justify a warrantless entry. Maryland courts consider the following in deciding if exigent circumstances exist:

1. That a grave offense is involved;
2. That the suspect is reasonably believed to be armed;
3. That there exists more than minimum probable cause based upon reasonably trustworthy information to believe that the suspect committed the crime involved;
4. That there is strong reason to believe that the suspect is in the premises being entered;

5. That there is a likelihood that the suspect will escape if not swiftly apprehended;

6. That reasonableness of police attitude and conduct is demonstrated through circumstances demonstrating a peaceable entry.

Gaynor v. State, 50 Md.App. 600, 603-604 (1982).

Entry with Warrant

Generally, a police officer executing a search warrant must give proper notice of his purpose and authority and be denied admittance before he can use force to break and enter the premises to be searched. Exceptions to this general rule may apply if officers have a reasonable belief they would be in danger if they knocked and announced their presence, exigent circumstances exist, or the warrant specifically authorizes a no-knock entry.

State v. Lee, 374 Md. 275 (2003).

SEARCHES

Consent to Search

A search warrant is not necessary if consent to search the premises is given by an individual who has authority, including apparent authority, over the premises. State v. Miller, 144 Md.App. 643 (2002). However, a physically present co-occupant's express refusal to consent to search prevails over another co-occupant's consent. Georgia v. Rudolph, 126 S.Ct. 1515 (2002). (This rule does not apply in cases where police enter a home to accompany and protect a domestic violence victim.)

Search Warrants

Definition – A written order by a judicial officer commanding a peace officer to search for and seize the property described. Md. Rule 4-101. Generally, a judge may issue a search warrant if there is probable cause to believe a crime is being committed on property, or there is property subject to seizure on a person or on premises, within the judge's jurisdiction.

Criminal Procedure Article § 1-203(a).

Requirements – The Maryland Constitution prohibits general or vague warrants, and warrants that are not supported by a sworn statement. Md. Const., Decl. of Rts., Art 26. Specific warrant requirements are set forth in Criminal Procedure Article § 1-203, and Md. Rule 4-601. Generally, search warrants must contain sufficient probable cause to justify searching and seizing, and must be supported by a personal knowledge statement under oath (affidavit) describing the factual basis for probable cause. The person and place to be searched and seized must be described with particularity. The warrant must be served within 15 calendar days after it was issued, after which it expires and is void. The return must be made to the issuing judge, along with the inventory of property seized. Returned warrants are kept sealed, but may be viewed by persons whose property was seized, or per court order.

In general, a District or Circuit Court judge may issue a search warrant when there is probable cause to believe that a misdemeanor or felony is being committed by a person or in a building, apartment, premises, place, or thing within the territorial jurisdiction of the judge or property subject to seizure under the criminal laws of the state in or on the person or in or on the building, apartment, premises, place, or thing. (See statute for details)

(2) The provisions of this section are in addition to and not limited by the provisions of Title 2 of the Criminal Procedure Article.

Criminal Law Article § 4-206

EVIDENCE

Generally

Maryland Rules of Evidence. (See Md. Rules 5-101 through 5-1008 for full text of Rules).

Complete, accurate, truthful, convincing evidence, and plenty of it, is what secures convictions.

In a criminal action, no person can be compelled to testify against himself. A defendant is presumed to be innocent of a crime charged unless the contrary can be proven. The court before which charges are brought makes its decision from evidence that is presented during the trial of facts. Every police officer should keep in mind when gathering evidence its admissibility during the trial, and of its tendency to establish or refute guilt.

It must be:

- Relevant - Tends to establish the fact at issue.
- Material - Affects fact or issue in case significantly.
- Competent - Matters pertaining to the issue through medium of persons qualified to testify.

Evidence is “any species of proof, or probative matter, legally presented at the trial of an issue by the act of the parties and through the medium of witnesses, records, documents, concrete objects, etc., for the purpose of inducing belief in the minds of the court or jury as to their contention”.

There are three major classifications of evidence: Direct, circumstantial and physical. Black’s Law Dictionary.

Direct evidence is testimony about a relevant fact by a witness describing what he saw or knows of his own knowledge.

Circumstantial evidence is indirect evidence; that from which something may be inferred.

Physical evidence requires no explanation, merely identification of photographs, X-rays, knife, bullet, etc.

Besides the three major classifications, frequently in court actions the word “evidence” is compounded or used with a descriptive term, some of which are as follows:

Accomplice’s Evidence – Not deemed sufficient unless corroborated by another witness, not an accomplice.

Competent Evidence – Pertaining to the facts at issue.

Incompetent Evidence – It is not permitted to be presented in relation to the particular matter at issue, due to the lack of originality or of some defect in the witness, document or of the evidence itself.

Conclusive Evidence – That which is so strong and convincing as to overbear all proof to the contrary beyond any reasonable doubt.

Corroborative Evidence – Strengthening or confirming, also additional evidence of a different character in support of the same point.

Cumulative Evidence – More evidence proving a point already established.

Documentary Evidence – Supplied by writing and documents by which ideas are represented on material substances relative to the fact at issue.

Expert Evidence – Given in relation to scientific, professional or technical matter by experts qualified to speak with authority by reason of their special training, skill or familiarity with subject at issue.

Opinion Evidence – A conclusion of what the witness thinks, believes, or infers in regard to the fact at issue.

Testimonial Evidence – Sworn statement.

Prima Facie Evidence – Good and sufficient on its face; and if not rebutted or contradicted, will remain sufficient.

Irrelevant Evidence – Opposite of relevant.

Legally Sufficient Evidence – The amount of proof which would satisfy an unprejudiced mind beyond a reasonable doubt.

Hearsay Evidence – An out of court statement which is offered at trial, by someone who heard it, to establish the truth of the matter asserted in the statement. What the witness heard another person say. Generally inadmissible but can be admissible if certain exceptions apply, such as prior statements, excited utterances, dying declarations, statement against interest, etc.

Former Testimony – Testimony given as a witness in any proceeding, or in a deposition taken in compliance with law, if the party against whom the testimony is now offered had an opportunity and motive to develop that testimony, and of the declarant is now unavailable as a witness.

Character Evidence refers to the defendant's reputation as spoken of or discussed in the community in which he lives, not among a few business associates.

Dying Declarations – A statement made by a declarant while believing his death was imminent, concerning the cause or circumstances of what the declarant believed to be his impending death, is admissible if the declarant is now unavailable as a witness. The courts have held that it is reasonable to assume that an individual who knows he is going to die is more likely to tell the truth than if he is in perfect health and under oath.

For an individual's statement to (later) be admissible as a dying declaration, his statement must show that he believes he is going to die as a result of the injury. The following is a sample of the questions that may be asked to establish a statement as a dying declaration:

- What is your name?
- Where do you live?
- Have you any hopes of recovery from the effects of the injury you have sustained?
- Are you willing to make a true statement as to how you were injured?

If the victim is about to die, and does not believe it, a doctor should be requested to tell him so. If he still refuses to admit his belief in near death, the statement cannot be admitted as evidence. It should be taken anyhow.

When possible, the victim of the crime and the person accused should confront each other. Important admissions or identifications are often obtained this way.

Confessions and Statements – A confession is an acknowledgment in express words by the accused in a criminal case of the guilt of the crime accused of or of some essential part of it. For a confession or statement to be used as evidence in court the following guidelines must be followed:

When a suspect is taken into custody or otherwise deprived of his freedom he must be “warned” that:

(1) he has the absolute right to remain silent,
(2) he must be informed that anything he says can be used against him in a court of law,

(3) he must be informed that he has the right to have an attorney present, and if he cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed for him prior to any questioning, if he so desires,

(4) if the individual indicates in any manner, at any time prior to or during questioning that he wishes to remain silent, the interrogation must cease. If he requests an attorney, interrogation must cease until an attorney is present and at that time he must be given an opportunity to confer privately with counsel and to have him present during subsequent questioning. If authorities conclude that they will not provide counsel for a reasonable period of time during which investigations in the field are carried out, they may do so without violating his privilege against self incrimination, so long as they do not question him during that period.

Routine processing without questioning (fingerprinting, photographing) does not violate his privilege against self incrimination. Reasonable grounds must exist for this processing and it may be by reasonable force where necessary. After these warnings have been given, and an opportunity to exercise these rights afforded, the individual may knowingly and intelligently waive these rights and agree to answer questions or make a statement. Failure to ask for a lawyer does not, in itself, constitute a waiver, and until such warnings and waiver are proven by the prosecution at the trial, no evidence obtained as a result of interrogation can be introduced. Any evidence that the accused was threatened, tricked, or cajoled into a waiver will show that the individual did not voluntarily waive his privilege and statements or evidence resulting from this will be suppressed..

Voluntary Confession – Preceding guidelines do not require police to stop a person who enters a police station and states that he wishes to confess to a crime, or a person who calls the police to offer a confession or any other statement he desires to make.

Judicial Notice – A court may take judicial notice of facts that are either generally known within the jurisdiction or capable of accurate and ready determination by referring to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned: the explosive nature of gasoline; the sun rises in the east; name of the President, etc.

Evidence - DNA

(c) In any criminal proceeding, the evidence of a DNA profile is admissible to prove or disprove the identity of any person.

Courts and Judicial Proceedings Article § 10-915

Statements of Witnesses

Statements should be written out and submitted for any correction the witness may wish to make, and for the witness's signature. Each page of the statement should be signed by the witness and officers. The witness's signature will be taken before other witnesses, who will certify as to the correctness of the signature. When the statement is not in the handwriting of the person making it, the following phrase, or one substantially like it, should be added: "I have read the above statement consisting of _____ pages, and I wish to state that the facts and matters therein contained are true and correct". The same procedure should be adopted when securing statements from witnesses other than the defendant who may be used in the case. Remember it is better to have too many than too few witnesses. For the want of a witness statement, many a case or conviction was lost. The original notes must be preserved for future use in court because members of the department will appear in court and will be held responsible for the production of all evidence or property.

EXTRADITION – UNIFORM ACT

It is the duty of the Governor of this State to have arrested and deliver up to the executive authority of any other state any person charged in that state with treason, felony or other crime who has fled from justice and is found in this State.

Criminal Procedure Article § 9-102

III. CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY

CONSPIRACY

Conspiracy is a plan or understanding between 2 or more persons to commit an unlawful act. The crime is complete when the agreement is entered into.

Quaglione v. State, 15 Md.App. 571 (1972)

The punishment cannot exceed the maximum punishment allowable for the crime that was conspired to commit.

Criminal Law Article § 1-202

ACCESSORY

Before the fact

For purposes of criminal charges, there is no difference between an accessory before the fact and a principal. An accessory before the fact may be charged, tried, convicted, and sentenced for a crime regardless of whether the principal in the crime has been convicted or even charged with that crime.

Criminal Procedure Article § 4-204

After the fact

To be charged as accessory after the fact, the accessory must take some action to assist the felon avoid the consequences of his crime, and must not be guilty of the underlying felony as a principal.

State v. Hawkins, 326 Md. 270 (1992) (emphasis added).

Note: Maryland law does not seem to authorize charging accessory after the fact to a misdemeanor, and instead takes the approach that all involved in misdemeanor are chargeable as principals.

Sine v. State, 40 Md.App. 628 (1978), cert. denied, 284 Md. 748 (1978).

Unless otherwise provided by law, a person who is convicted of being an accessory after the fact to a felony is guilty of a felony and on conviction is subject to the lesser of:

(1) imprisonment not exceeding 5 years; or (2) a penalty not exceeding the maximum penalty provided by law for committing the underlying felony.

Criminal Law Article § 1-301

PROOF OF INTENT - FRAUD, THEFT, AND RELATED CRIMES

In a trial for counterfeiting, issuing, disposing of, passing, altering, stealing, embezzling, or destroying any kind of instrument, or theft by the obtaining of property by false pretenses, it is sufficient to prove that the defendant did the act charged with an intent to defraud without proving an intent by the defendant to defraud a particular person.

Criminal Law Article § 1-401

INFANCY

The infancy defense is another way of saying the law presumes young children are unable to form criminal intent, and for that reason cannot be subjected to criminal prosecution. Under Maryland common law, the infancy defense is a complete defense to the criminal prosecution of children under 7 years, because they are conclusively presumed incapable of criminal intent. Children between 7 and 13 years are presumed incapable of criminal intent, but the strength of that presumption decreases as a child approaches 13. A child between 7 and 13 may be subject to criminal prosecution or delinquency proceedings, but the State must introduce evidence to show the child actually was capable of forming criminal intent, despite his young age.
