Department of Homeland Security, Federal Law Enforcement Training Center's Rural Policing Institute presents:

Implementing Intelligence-Led Policing Training Program

Location: Salisbury, Maryland

Date: April 17-18, 2012

Hosted by: Eastern Shores Criminal Justice Academy

Program Focus:

The Implementing Intelligence-Led Policing Training Program (IILPTP) is a day and a half program specifically for rural chief executives and command level personnel. The course examines the historical aspects of ILP and promotes an understanding of the principles of this important law enforcement philosophy. The course closely looks at the critical elements of ILP and demonstrates how the law enforcement executive can use them to build a program. The course focuses on the agency's ability to use ILP to effectively manage an information sharing environment and expounds on the laws regarding privacy and civil rights. Curriculum includes 21st Century Policing Strategies, Local Participation in the Information Sharing Environment, Legal Issues, Managing Intelligence in Your Agency, Building Local Partnerships and Matching Resources to Needs, Building Community Trust, and The Intelligence Cycle: A Proactive Approach to Solving Local Crime Problems.

Who Should Attend: Qualified applicants must be full-time, sworn law enforcement peace officers.

Eligibility: This program is being funded by the FLETC's Rural Policing Institute. Preference for admission into this program is given to non-federal law enforcement officers or other emergency responders working in rural areas. "Rural" is defined as any area outside of a metropolitan statistical area (MSA), as defined by the Office of Management and Budget; or any jurisdiction inside of a MSA located in a county, borough, parish or land under the jurisdiction of an Indian Tribe with a population of no more than 50,000. Please visit: Eligibility Instructions for eligibility requirements or for more information. Non-rural applicants may be admitted on a space-available basis beginning approximately 35 days prior to the program's start date.

Cost: TUITION-FREE Attendees are responsible for all travel, lodging and meal expenses.
